WSL Digital Collection Suite | digitalcollections.wyo.gov

The Digital Collection Suite (DCS) is a group of six database collections created and maintained by the WSL. Each collection shines a light on particular part of Wyoming's rich history. Learn about Wyoming-specific legislation, publications, inventors, trademarks, and places. Or examine over 800,000 archived Wyoming newspaper pages dating back to 1849. The DCS is a terrific resource for genealogists, historians, researchers, and anyone interested in the history of The Cowboy State.

Ever thought about learning a new language or trying to fix your own car? Like to keep up with technology trends or advancements in medicine? Maybe you're a student looking for research tools or help preparing for a test. Do you enjoy quiet time with a good ebook or an audiobook during your commute? If any of these scenarios sound appealing, head to gowyld.net for a complete list of digital library resources available to Wyoming library patrons.

WSL Catalog (WYLDcat) | wyld.sdp.sirsi.net/client/en_US/wsl

WYLDcat is the catalog system that manages all library resources available to Wyoming residents and state government employees. Looking for a special item? Use the powerful search engine to find materials in over 100 Wyoming libraries, or limit your search to individual collections. And if the item you're seeking can only be found at a library on the other side of the state, our outstanding Interlibrary Loan service can get it for you.

Downloadable Content | gowyld.net/econtent

Wyoming library patrons can choose from over 40,000 ebooks, audiobooks, and magazines, all downloadable for iOS, Android, and Kindle Fire. There's literature, fiction, and nonfiction for all ages, current editions of popular magazines like Family Handyman, Time, and Popular Science, and archived collections of respected magazines, including The Smithsonian Magazine, National Geographic Kids, and The Economist.

WSL Campus

The WSL is rich with online content but don't forget the library building itself. Come visit us at 2800 Central Avenue in Cheyenne and explore our vast collections of state and federal publications, patents, trademarks, and archived Wyoming newspapers. For State Employees, we offer meeting spaces and the use of Chromebooks. Free WIFI is available to all patrons.
